"I've got some older pictures of people I see once every couple years. Intrigued or unamazed, you were so much different back in those days, but now this smile has a bitter curve and now these eyes are unenchanted and all we see is a faded image of what we used to be. How can we relate?...when we don't know a thing about each other anymore. We don't know each other any more. Is there a gesture I could use to clearly express I'm at another loss for words"

-The Lawrence Arms

12.Reggie and The Full Effect at Record Breakers,2003 We played the xix piano with a drum machine and kept forgetting the words to his songs and instead made little Bobby McFarren type noises.

13.Earl,Ricky, Chunsa at YMCA, 2002 I put together this collection of photos with a pretty narrow scope of bands, but also wanted to include people while they weren't playing or even people not in bands but who contribute to the scene in equally important, if not visable ways; those who often get ignored because they aren't holding a guitar.

33. The Couch at Skunkhell in S.Korea 2006. One time Bux, another Korean punk band was on a TV show plying live with a bunch of their friends surrounding them and the singer from The Couch and some other guy in Clockwork Orange makeup pulled their pants to the ankles and started to leapfrog jump around, flapping their bangs about. The show was then cancelled. Bill Grundy must be rolling over in his grave!
